Borough to Consider Amending Ordinance On Overnight Parking

The proposal to amend Princeton Borough's long-standing prohibition of overnight parking on public streets will be considered at the work session of Borough Council scheduled for Thursday, July 26, at 8 p.m. in Borough Hall.

Council, acting in reponse to residents without off-street parking who now must shuffle their cars every night from the street to some other location, met informally to discuss the issue last week. Council members John Huntoon, Irv Urken, and Jane Terpstra heard comments from seven Borough residents as well as from police chief Michael Carnevale.

Chief Carnevale contended that the current system of ticketing cars parked overnight has enabled police to solve crimes on several occasions and has discouraged criminals from nighttime activities in the Borough. He also raised an unexpected issue: That a modified parking ban that would allow only certain Borough residents to park on the street overnight possibly could violate state laws governing the use of public roads.

Mrs. Terpstra raised another concern that she said had been expressed to her by various homeowners — that relaxation of the overnight parking restriction could lead to increased conversion of single-family houses into multiple dwelling units. "People are afraid of a great increase in density," she said.

Mr. Huntoon asked that three of the residents form a liaison committee to address the issues raised at the meeting and work with Council as it explores the possibility of drafting an ordinance. Named to the committee were Joseph Capalbo of 19 Bank Street, a homeowner whose property

Phase 1 of Merrill Lynch's Move to Forrestal Expected To Be Completed by July 1985; 1,450 to Relocate Here

By this week next year, Phase I of the multi-million dollar Merrill Lynch training center-administrative offices in the Forrestal complex will be ready for occupancy.

"Everything is on time and on budget," Thomas G. White, senior resident vice president, Princeton Corporate Campus Group, Merrill Lynch, told the press following a luncheon meeting of the Princeton Area Chamber of Commerce at Scanticon last Thursday. Guest speaker at the monthly Chamber event by his own request, Mr. White described the sprawling corporate center and its future uses to a capacity audience.

Phase I involves one million square feet of space currently under construction in the Forrestal complex off Route 1. Merrill Lynch owns 275 acres in that complex. The location is off Scudders Mill Road across from the intersection with College Road East. The investment firm has construction approval for an additional 800,000 square feet of office space, Mr. White said.

Some 1450 Merrill Lynch employees, most of whom are being relocated from the New York City headquarters, are also involved in what may be the most extensive corporate relocation to the Princeton area to date. Mr. White said that the firm's corporate systems group, which plans its communications activity, and the asset management company will be among the office operations that will be relocated.

Merrill Lynch is offering a "very generous" moving allowance to entice employees to move with the job, Mr. White said. Some 65 percent have accepted, which is considered a high percentage in corporate relocation. The remainder may elect to accept other employment within the firm, he said, or to leave the firm altogether.

The move to Princeton originally centered around the desire to move the Merrill Lynch training center for new account executives out of high-cost Manhattan real estate. In the process, the company began to assess what else "could be done as well or better off Manhattan," Mr. White noted.

"Is it worth $55 a square foot — to pick a number — to process a payroll, or to teach the business?" he asked rhetorically. Thus, training of new account executives and management development functions are only a portion of the uses of the new complex. Merrill Lynch estimates the per

Mt. Laurel Concerns Are Dividing Members Of Township Committee

The pressure of the Mount Luarel suits and trying to enact an affordable housing ordinance is beginning to tell on Township Committee members.

Adoption of a simple professional services resolution to pay housing consultants Allan Mallach and John Nolon $23,500 for services to be performed in connection with Mount Laurel II litigation and implementation of an affordable housing program for the Township revealed deep divisions within Committee at its meeting Monday night.

Committeeman William Cherry voted against the resolution, saying that the consultants' testimony (in the Mount Laurel trial) would not be valid if Committee were to pass an affordable housing ordinance that is drastically different from the one proposed by Mr. Mallach and Mr. Nolon. "We need new points of view," Mr. Cherry stated.

Committeewomen Gail Firestone and Barbara Cantrill abstained from voting on the measure, thereby drawing a rebuke from Mayor Winthrop S. Pike, who said, "It is a cop-out for any member of this committee to abstain. We are here to make decisions. We all have to wake up to Mount Laurel and to do all we can to defend this town from such assaults."

Mrs. Firestone protested that the "ability of this consultant to defend this ordinance in court depends on whether we adopt this (affordable housing) ordinance. At that point we may decide (whether or not to retain their services)." She sought to divide the contract into its two parts, paying one part now and holding off on the other until later.

Township Attorney Edwin S. Schmierer also protested, has no off-street parking; Diana Radcliffe of 43 Moran Avenue, a tenant who must park her car in a Borough lot a block away from home; and Richard Rein of 34 Park Place, a homeowner with two garages but with bittersweet memories of his days on Moran Avenue with no off-street parking. He wrote a recent TOWN TOPICS article documenting the plight of the overnight car "shufflers."

A Time Bomb? Several of the reasons cited for maintaining the parking ban were challenged by the residents last week. Miss Radcliffe and Pat Mentus of Palmer Square argued that the continuation of the ban created a climate of fear that more than offset any security benefits.

Miss Radcliffe called the Borough parking lot on Park Place near Moore Street "a classic rape environment — one way out, one way in, with a fence that makes it difficult to get away from someone. It's a bomb ticking — that's the bottom line," she said.

On the issue of residential density, Mr. Capalho emphasized that "no one asked for the total abolition" of the ban, but rather some sort of a "decal system for a limited number of residents" who do not now have access to parking spaces.

The parking liaisan committee later suggested that current Borough zoning ordinance already contains a more rigorous parking requirement for multiple dwelling units than for single-family houses. The latter are required to have one parking space apiece; multiple dwellings must provide 1½ spaces for each unit. Since all spaces must be located off-street, the committee contended that a relaxation of the parking ban on the street would not ease the conversion of single-family houses into multiple dwelling units.

'Black Market.' Mrs. Terpstra suggested that administration of a parking sticker program could be handled by the Rent Registration Board and could lead to the discovery of some currently unregistered apartments. She voiced concern, however, about the possibility of a "black market" in stickers sold to eligble residents who do not own cars.

One of the residents at the meeting, Peter Wepplo of 45 Wilton Street, pointed out that landlords who can offer parking to tenants already can charge a premium for that apartment. "There's a value associated with having a parking space next to your house," Mr. Wepplo said. "I'd rather see it go to the Borough" in the form of revenues from overnight parking permits. Members of the liaison committee contended later that a new ordinance could forbid resale of parking stickers.

Chief Carnevale's concern about the possible legal ramifications of an amended ordinance was directed later to the attention of Borough Attorney Walter Bliss. He was already aware of several New Jersey communities which have sticker programs aimed at providing special parking privileges for residents, including Collingswood, Atlantic City, and certain streets in New Brunswick.

Whether or not those communities are operating in violation of the law was another question. "We are looking at Department of Transportation regulations, which is a likely source of trouble, if there is trouble," Mr. Bliss said. "We also want to look at other communities which have special parking for residents, especially those that are college towns," Mr. Bliss said that he expected to have a report prepared in time for the July 26 meeting.

GREENHOLM POSTPONED

Court Date July 27. The Greenholm Association's attempt to overturn the Regional Planning Board's approval of the projected expansion of Palmer Square has been delayed for at least two weeks.

Greenholm residents, upset about the likely increase in noise and traffic on the street adjoining their residential enclave as a result of the Collins Development Corporation project, were scheduled to present their case in New Jersey Superior Court last Friday. The court now has rescheduled the case for Friday, July 27.

Mercer Oak Survives Attempt on Its Life By Early-Morning Vandals Last Friday

The historic Mercer Oak, which endured the Battle of Princeton more than 200 years ago and since then has withstood the furies of Mother Nature, was tested in the early dawn last Friday by a modern-day adversary, the vandal.

Township Police reported that an explosion rocked the oak at about 5:45 a.m., causing flames to shoot up 25 feet through its branches. The sound of the explosion awoke nearby residents and was heard by a motorist on Mercer Road who flagged down a patrol car. Fire trucks had to be summoned to extinguish the fire. It was as much of an assault on the tree as the hurricane of two decades ago that knocked half of it to the ground and required the installation of guy wires to support some of the remaining limbs.

But the Mercer Oak, though no longer mighty, nevertheless survived. It apparently suffered only from minor scorching. Police, sifting through the debris at Battlefield Park, found remnants of what they believed may have been gasoline containers. The authorities had no immediate suspects.

The oak, which has been kept under the watchful eye of tree surgeons in recent years, was scheduled to undergo another examination. The vandal or vandals, one presumes, need an examination as well.

A SUMMER SWEETHEART: The fountain in the plaza at Palmer Square, recreated in the form of a modern-day Stonehenge, is bubbling forth again — after months of reconstruction activity in the area adjacent to the kiosk. Within a few weeks, say officials of Collins Development, the "Out to Lunch" bronze figure from the Johnson Atelier also will be back in its traditional place. In the meantime young Fenway Chang, whose first name means "sweet smelling" in Chinese, enjoys one of the sweet moments in the life of a nearly two-year-old girl.

MORE HOUSES DUE

On S92 Path. Mayor Winthrop S. Pike told Township Committee last Monday night that by the time the Department of Transportation gets around to building S92, all the property along the preserved alignment, which Princeton supports, will be "gobbled up."

The mayor said he had reason to believe — although admittedly by hearsay — that the state had entered into another agreement with another developer to acquire property near the border of Princeton and Montgomery Township. The first agreement, between Calton Homes, the DOT and the Montgomery Planning Board, gave the DOT a 14.1 acre right of way in exchange for $1 and permission to proceed with a 340-unit townhouse development off Princeton Avenue near Blue Spring Road.

Development between Route 206 and River Road could push Route 92 to the Princeton-Montgomery border. Two additional developments, Larkin and RCT, have already received approval from the Montgomery Planning Board for a joint total of 193 more townhouses in the area.

Mayor Pike and Township Engineer Robert V. Kiser fear that additional developments will be approved before the completion of the environmental studies currently underway for S92. It is from these environmental impact studies that the DOT selects the final alignment and then begins the process to purchase the right-of-way on which the roadway will be built.

By the time the environmental impact studies are due at the end of 1985, there may be some 150 new townhouses covering the preserved alignment through Montgomery Township. Their existence could drive up the cost of the roadway, should the state select that alignment.

Mayor Pike has written a letter to DOT Commissioner John Sheridan Jr. urging the immediate purchase of right-away along the preserved alignment. He expressed his concern that the preserved alignment would become the most expensive, or that the long awaited bypass would not be built at all.

Public Technology, Inc., of Washington, D.C., or Thomas W. Shand of Media, Pa., is to determine ways for Princeton to maintain a volunteer fire company.

"People would go kicking and screaming to a paid department," said Borough Council President and Fire Commissioner Dick Woodbridge.

He said that a paid department would have a very bad effect on people who want to volunteer and that it also can be very expensive.

A volunteer company, however, requires that volunteer firefighters be close by. And here lies a serious problem. Currently, 30 to 40 percent of Princeton's firefighters live out of town. Some, who used to live in Princeton, have left because they have been priced out.

Two approaches have been suggested to deal with this: One, to be addressed by the upcoming study, will take the geographical location of firefighters into consideration when planning the location of future fire stations.

The second involves the setting aside of housing units for firefighters and other public servants in the new moderate-income housing currently under discussion in the Borough.

The Fire Department has decided to study long-term fire fighting needs — a subject not covered in the Master Plan — at a time when significant development looms in the Township. The study will also address the needs of a changing downtown. Many of these changes will result from the Palmer Square redevelopment.

The Fire Department does deal with specific situations as they occur. For example, negotiations with Collins Development led to an agreement to install sprinkler systems in all interior residential units (those not accessible to firetrucks).

Traffic Problems at No. 3. A prod to the current long-range thinking was the fact that fire trucks were having more and more difficulty getting out of Fire Station No. 3, on Chambers Street. "There is no feeling that this station should be moved," said Mr. Woodbridge, "but we should look at this and other questions periodically."

The upcoming study will also include a review of fire equipment to make certain that it is up to date, as well as recommendations on what type of equipment should be ordered in the future. Possible ways to improve the line and staff structure of the Fire Department will also be analyzed The study will take at least six months to complete.

Mr. Woodbridge also reports a growing feeling within the Fire Committee and Board of Engineers that the time has come to mandate smoke alarms and fire detectors in one- and two-family dwellings. These dwellings are not covered by state statute.

He recalls that the first fatal fire he went to as fire commissioner might have ended differently if there had been a smoke detector. "It was three years ago, on Leigh Avenue. An elderly man was overcome by smoke at the top of the stairs, and died. There was really very little fire damage in the house. A lot of fires, and fatalities, can be stopped with early detection."

He will bring copies of smoke alarm and fire detector ordinances passed by other communities to the July 23 meeting of the Fire Committee, and will ask Borough Attorney Walter Bliss to draft an ordinance utilizing the best elements of these ordinances.

Mr. Woodbridge hopes to introduce the ordinance to Borough Council in the fall.

Borough Council will hold a public hearing on the ordinance appropriating $10,660 for the first phase of consultant's work by the Homeownership Group of Newark, Del., Thursday, July 26, at 8 p.m. in Borough Hall.

Homeownership Group has been asked by Mayor Barbara Sigmund to be consultants for the construction of 50 units of affordable housing in the Borough in a lease-purchase program. Homeownership is presently involved in a program to create middle income housing in center-city New Brunswick and has another contract pending in North Carolina.

The project in Princeton, if approved, would be the group's first attempt at creating low and moderate income housing under its lease-purchase program which involves a short term tax exempt bond and the reinvestment of rental income and other accumulated funds to make up a "subsidy" for the "buy-down" of the units.

State Department of Education.

But — also as usual — the quoting of test scores to make comparisons between school districts was downplayed by school officials. "Trying to come to conclusions on quality based on numbers is fraught with peril," was how Assistant School Superintendent Jamieson McKenzie stated the administration's point of view.

In the Minimum Basic Skills Test, one of the two tests administered this year, 98.6 percent of Princeton ninth-graders passed both the reading and math sections. The scores for West Windsor-Plainsboro Schools, reading and math, were 98.7 and 99.6 percent; for Hopewell Valley Schools, reading and math, 99.5 and 99.0 percent; and for Montgomery Schools, reading and math, 97.0 and 98.0 percent.

Scores appeared even higher for Princeton students in the new High School Proficiency Test, a more rigorous exam that will eventually replace the Minimum Basic Skills Test as a requirement for high school graduation.

"However," noted Mr. McKenzie, "the marks for this exam are stated as a mean, not as a percentage passing." He added that Princeton, with so many scholastically excellent students, traditionally produces high mean scores.

High School Proficiency Test reading, math, and writing scores (in that order) for, respectively, Princeton, West Windsor-Plainsboro, Hopewell Valley, and Montgomery, are: 89.2, 78.9 and 90.4 percent; 87.4, 80.0, and 88.6 percent; 88.8, 76.6 and 88.4 percent; and 87.4, 72.6 and 85.0 percent.

Princeton received an average score of 10 on the essay section of the new exam, one of only two districts in the state to score higher than 9.7. Scores for West Windsor-Plainsboro, Hopewell Valley, and Montgomery were, respectively, 9.5, 9.3 and 8.4

Writing had been singled out as a district goal by the Princeton Regional Schools, and Mr. McKenzie believes this is one reason for the district's high scores in this area.

He also stated that the Princeton way of teaching reading in the middle and high schools — through literature rather than workbooks — was a factor in the district's excellent performance in the more difficult High School Proficiency Test.

SUIT IS DISMISSED

Against Medical Center. A Superior Court judge in New Brunswick has dismissed a staff physician's civil suit against Princeton Medical Center.

The suit, filed by Dr. John J. Tambascia in 1982, alleged that the hospital and the Chief of Medicine, Dr. Charles R. Ream, interfered with his right to practice medicine. Dr. Tambascia was placed under "special supervision" in 1982 by Dr. Ream and the hospital's executive committee for what were described as "questionable practices" during the trial.

Originally, Dr. Tambascia filed suits as well against the hospital board of trustees and John Kauffman, past president, but they were dismissed earlier. Middlesex County Superior Court Judge C. Judson Hamlin heard all of the evidence presented in the nonjury trial which lasted three weeks. Judge Hamlin made his findings public last week when he dismissed Dr. Tambascia's civil suit, finding in favor of the Medical Center on all issues.

Dr. Tambascia, who has an office in Kendall Park and is still a member of the Medical Center's attending staff, began his affiliation with the hospital in 1964. In the civil suit, he alleged that the hospital interfered with his right to practice medicine there and that the defendants had committed libel and slander against him.

The "questionable practices" that came to light during the trial, according to the judge's findings, involved instances of changing patients' records, making statements about medical experience that were unfounded and using non-sterile techniques when

The attorney for the Medical Center said the result of the trial was significant because "it reaffirmed the right and obligation of a hospital to supervise and control those physicians who have the privilege of practicing medicine at the institution." Dr. Tambascia's attorney has said the verdict will be appealed on the grounds that errors were made by the judge during the trial.

JUDGES UPHOLD ETS

In SAT Controversy. A panel of New Jersey Appellate Court judges has ruled that Educational Testing Service acted fairly in questioning the Scholastic Aptitude Test scores of four students from Short Hills.

"ETS undertakes test security procedures to ensure that the more than one million students who take the SAT each year have a fair and equal chance to do their best," said ETS assistant general counsel Patricia E. Taylor, quoted in an ETS press release. "This case has been costly and time-consuming for each side, but it is gratifying to know our attention to fairness, privacy and confidentiality won out in the end."

"Our practice of offering candidates with questioned scores five options to resolve matters, including a free retest and independent arbitration, was also recognized as being fair and appropriate."

The court in its opinion wrote that "... ETS's considerable interest in establishing the validity of its test scores justified its request in this case that plaintiffs confirm their scores by either persuading ETS that its doubts are ill-founded or retaking the test. ETS has deprived plaintiffs of nothing except their freedom from retaking the test. Whatever stigma may attach to retaking the test would be immediately and effectively dispelled by achieving a score on the retest that falls within the generous margin allowed for validating the original test scores."

The four students, all members of the Millburn High School tennis team, had taken the May, 1982, SAT tests three hours earlier than their classmates to allow them to participate in a tennis tournament.

ROUND TOPS.

WINDOWS

No window better demonstrates Marvin's ability to make windows in virtually any shape or size than the Round Top. In fact, Marvin is one of the few manufacturers to offer it.

The frame is put together by hand from carefully-matched pieces of Ponderosa pine. It forms a sturdy arch that will accept a beautiful stain-and-varnish or paint finish.

The Round Top can replace less energy-efficient round top windows in old buildings, or it can be designed into new architecture for a unique, striking effect.

Marvin's Round Top features ½" or 1" insulated glass, or triple-glazing for increased energy conservation. Storm sash are also available.

TWO YOUTHS NABBED

By Alert Patrolman. Two teenage boys were arrested by Borough Police and charged with possession of marijuana, illegal possession of alcohol, and consuming alcohol in a motor vehicle as a result of a routine traffic stop made by Patrolman William Nathan.

Charged were Robert Williams Jr. of Ridge Road, Monmouth Junction, and Shaun Sweeney of Stevens Road, Kendall Park. The latter was also charged with resisting arrest. Both were scheduled to appear in Borough Court on August 15.

Chief Michael Carnevale reported that Patrolman Nathan stopped a car last Wednesday, July 11, on University Place near College Road after observing that a taillight was out of order. When the officer approached the car he detected the smell of beer and noticed beer bottles on the passenger side. After being ordered to step out of the car, the passenger fled.

Patrolman Nathan filed charges against the Williams youth, who provided what police described as a fictitious name for the passenger. Acting on other information the patrolman visited the South Brunswick school district and examined photographs from the high school yearbook.

That search turned up the name of young Sweeney.

Lumber Theft Charged. Three days later — last Saturday — Patrolman Nathan was on another patrol and observed a car leaving a construction site at 201 Mercer Street. Pieces of lumber were protruding from the car.

Chief Carnevale reported that the driver of the car, Guy Dorgan, 24, of Tennyson Drive, Plainsboro, was charged with theft. He was scheduled for an August 15 court appearance.

In another theft case Patrolman Michael Taylor made what police believe was an accurate application of a description to a suspect on the street. On July 11 police responded to the reported theft of cash and a watch from lockers at the YMCA.

A description of a suspect was broadcast and Patrolman Taylor noticed a man matching the description on Wiggins Street near Moore Street. The officer recovered a watch matching the one described as being stolen and charged Kenneth Green, 23, of Juniper Row with theft. Mr. Green was given an August 1 court date. Police said the watch was returned to the owner.

DAVIDSON'S HIT

By Change Scam. Friday the 13th was an unlucky day for Davidson's supermarket and one of its cashiers. Borough Police Chief Michael Carnevale reported that a heavyset white woman, about 5-feet-6 in height with long, dark brown hair, apparently made off with $250 from the Nassau Street food store.

The police reported that the woman entered the store at about 2:45 p.m. last Friday and took two items worth about $3 to the cash register. At that time she told the cashier that she spoke very little English and then tried to pay for the items with two $5 bills.

As the cashier attempted to make change the woman produced more bills and then, apparently in the confusion of the moment, grabbed a handful of $20 bills from the register. The cashier thought she had recovered all the bills before the woman left the store but when the register was reconciled $250 was discovered missing. Police said that a similar incident, perhaps involving the same woman, was reported at the Montgomery Shopping Plaza.

SPORTY SUSPECT

In Township and Borough. Police in the Township reported the theft last Thursday of a carton of 36 Izod shirts from Epstein's department store in the Princeton Shopping Center. In the Borough police were investigating a shoplifting incident on Monday in which six warm-up suits and other merchandise were taken from a sports shop on Nassau Street.

What do the reports have in common? A vague similarity between the descriptions of the suspect. Township Captain Jack Petrone described his man as a black male, about 28 years old, 6 feet tall with a large build, and wearing a red tank-top shirt with green trim.

Chief Carnevale's description of the Borough suspect was a black male in his 30s, with a large build, and wearing a blue T-shirt and shorts, and white sneakers. The value of the warm-up suits stolen was placed at $630, plus a blue Adidas bag, $26, and a $10 pair of sunglasses. The Izod shirts were valued at $808.

ALARM SOUNDS...

...Child Charged. Township Police responding to an apparently false alarm discovered a small amount of marijuana in the house and charged the family's college-age son with illegal possession of less than 25 grams — a misdemeanor.

Arrested on July 9 was Anthony G. Cedeno of 1201 Stuart Road. He was due in court this week.

ARSON SUSPECTED

At Shopping Center. The Princeton Fire Department and Township Police responded July 10 to a fire of suspicious origin in a car parked at the Princeton Shopping Center near the Dairy Queen.

Township Captain Jack Petrone said that the fire appeared to begin in some newspapers found in the passenger compartment. The interior of the car was burned out, several windows cracked from the heat, and the paint peeled.

Suspicinns of the police and Fire Department foreman Tom Hagadorn were raised when they learned that the owner of the car, Poashneg T. Chao of West Athens, New York, did not recognize the remains of the newspapers found in the car. The papers were in English and Mr. Chao, who is Chinese, said he cannot read English. Captain Petrone said the fire could be related to another incident in which air was let out of a car's tires.

SHRUBS UPROOTED

On Audubon Lane. Township Police were investigating two reports of criminal mischief at a house on Audubon Lane. A resident whose grounds were recently landscaped reported that someone pulled up the fresh plantings and threw them in the rear yard. The same resident reported also that branches of dogwood trees on the property were cut back.

In the Borough, police were investigating two reports of malicious mischief. Sometime last Wednesday the convertible top of a car parked in a Nassau Street lot was slashed. The owner is a Hopewell resident.

The next day a car parked on Witherspoon Lane was scraped by a sharp instrument, ruining the paint on the fender, doors, and trunk lid. The victim lives in Princeton.

STOLEN CAR?

Or False Report? Borough Police are continuing an investigation of a stolen car report filed over the weekend by a 17-year-old from Morganville.

Chief Michael Carnevale said that Howard Brima reported that he had parked his car on Vandeventer Street at about 9:30 p.m. Friday and that, when he returned early Saturday morning, the car was gone. Police issued a stolen car alert and soon heard from police in Plainsboro, who reported that they had found the car wrecked in a culvert with no driver at the scene.

The chief said that an investigation by Plainsboro police determined that the car, which did not belong to young Brima, had not been stolen. Charges of filing a false report were being considered.

WEAKLINGS EXCLUDED From This Suspect List. Township Police may be looking for someone strong, and with a penchant for heavy work, as they investigate the disappearance last Wednesday night of a roofer's tarring kettle from a construction site at 673 Lawrenceville Road.

The tarring kettle, used for heating and mixing tar to be used on roofs, is owned by Chet's Roofing of Mercerville. It is green with "Chet's" painted on it in orange letters. Valued at $2,000, the kettle weighs one ton.

Borough Police might be looking for a criminal with a similar build in their investigation of a theft from Larry's Sunoco station on Nassau Street sometime overnight on July 4 and 5. Missing is a soda vending machine that had been held in place by its considerable gravity outside the station.

Most other thieves still were operating in the traditional, light-fingered style that has been in vogue for this professional for many years. Someone picked up $20 in cash on one occasion, and then $40 more a week later, from a locker at the Community Park Pool

Three checks were removed sometime Monday morning from a checkbook kept in an office at the North American Electric Reliability Council at 419 North Harrison Street. Township Police believe the culprit may already have tried to convert them into something heavier by cashing them in the Trenton area.

A week ago someone used a coat hanger to enter a car parked on Nassau Street near Mercer. All that was stolen was a simple bracelet. It was gold and valued at $600 — and had been left in plain view on the seat, according to Chief Michael Carnevale.

An employee of a Nassau Street restaurant left her purse in a rest room for a few minutes Monday evening. When she returned for it, $85 in cash was missing.

A nurse at Merwick left her pocketbook unattended for a few hours Saturday night. The purse was found later discarded in a stairwell; missing was $70 in cash.

On Friday the 13th a woman working in a Nassau Street office left her handbag in a desk drawer for several hours. The total value of her subsequent loss was $306, including $170 in cash.

Rolling Stock Popular. The maroon moped parked behind Princeton Day School for a week or so must have looked inviting, since thieves usually prefer riding or driving to walking. It was reported stolen on July 10. The owner is a Skillman resident. The value of the moped: $600.

Bikes remain popular: One left unlocked on a porch on Witherspoon was stolen sometime overnight last Saturday.

Some thief may not like to feed parking meters. A double-headed meter was stolen off its stand on Witherspoon Street sometime overnight last Thursday. Its value, to the Borough of Princeton, is $250.

Thieves always like music: A radio-cassette player valued at $175 was reported stolen from a University classroom at 185 Nassau Street. A student was the victim.

The following type of item is bound to appear with increasing frequency in the theft report: a computer. Until a few years ago the only people strong enough to lug off a computer weren't smart enough to use one — they'd rather have a soda machine. Now they're smaller and more user friendly. Sometime between midnight Friday and noon on Saturday someone made off with an IBM personal computer valued at $1,400.

The computer was stolen from a locked office at the Frick Chemical Laboratory on the University campus. Chief Carnevale said there was no sign of forced entry. In this case, one presumes, police are looking for a smart thief.

$5,000 PROFIT

Anticipated by Schools. "Summer PTI," a program of eight different courses offered to outside districts by Princeton Regional Schools, is expected to earn a $5,000 profit this summer.

The program, which is in its second year, focuses on the use of the computer for educational and administrative purposes. Course titles include, "A Computer for the Principal," "Bankstreet Writer," "A Computer for the Librarian," and "Reading With the Computer."

Over 100 outside teachers and administrators are participating in this summer's program. They were informed of Princeton's offerings through a statewide mailing this spring.

"This is a district that takes pride in leadership in the area of education," said Assistant Superintendent Jamieson McKenzie. "Very few people have done what we're doing in computers, and we want to share this."

All profits from the summer program are dedicated to supporting and recognizing Princeton Regional Schools staff. Monies, for example, are used to pay for retirement lunches and to subsidize special projects and trips to conventions.

SUMMER MEETINGS SET

By LWV. The League of Women Voters of the Princeton Area will hold a meeting on Thursday, July 26, at 7:30 p.m. to study local municipal and county master plans. This is part of the League's work to promote the coordination of regional planning. Call Rita Ludlum at 921-6181 for further information.

GIFT TO THE SQUAD: Walter B. Howe joined Landau's this year in making a special contribution to the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad. The monies enabled the Squad to purchase a 60-inch ram to be used with the "Jaws of Life" tool that is effective in extricating injured persons from cars that have been involved in collisions. Squad Captain J. Edwin Obert Jr., center accepts the gift from Henry Landau, right and William Horr of Walter B. Howe. Members of the business community are urged to consider supporting the Squad (or the volunteer fire department) with similar special gifts.

TRASH BILL HIGHER

For Borough. The Borough will be paying $50,000 more than it did last year for collection and disposal of solid waste.

The one-year contract awarded by Council to National Waste Disposal of Trenton is in the amount of $188,994. Last year, the same firm disposed of Borough trash for $133,933. The new contract runs from August 1 through July 31, 1985.

The increase in cost results from the closing of the Burlington County landfill, where Borough trash had been taken. Now the solid waste will have to be hauled, at higher fees, to a landfill in Falls Township, Pa.

There's always a possibility that costs can be brought down next year if the Borough recycling program bears its share of the trash burden. However, the program still faces several more hurdles before it can get underway.

Looking into the future, and assuming a successful recycling program, it is possible that upcoming contracts might include both recycling and trash collection. But right now the recycling market is poor, offering only a modest hope that trash collection costs can be cut through recycling glass and papers and having them picked up separately.

SLIDE SHOW SET

At Borough Hall. A slide presentation on the Main Street Downtown Revitalization program in Burlington City will be shown at Borough Hall at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, July 24. The public is invited.

Bob Thompson, downtown coordinator for the City of Burlington, will talk about how his town has benefitted from a landmarks ordinance and will discuss the Main Street Downtown Revitalization program, which has been developed by the National Trust for Historic Preservation. He will focus on the role of the local Historic Commission in the program.

The presentation will center on four aspects of the two-year-old Burlington program: organization, design, promotion, and economic restructuring.

Burlington was one of two cities recently visited by a contingent of Borough of-

THREE ARE APPOINTED

At Seminary. Princeton Theological Seminary has announced the appointment of a new academic dean and a new director of Ph.D. studies, both effective September 1.

James N. Lapsley Jr., Professor of pastoral theology, will become dean, and Katharine D. Sakenfeld, associate professor of Old Testament, will direct doctoral studies.

Mr. Lapsley joined the Seminary faculty in 1961, coming from a year's residence at the Menninger Foundation in Kansas. He became professor of pastoral theology in 1976. A graduate of Southwestern University at Memphis, he earned the bachelor of divinity degree from Union Seminary in Virignia and the doctor of philosophy degree from the University of Chicago.

Ms. Sakenfeld is a graduate of Wooster College, the University of Rhode Island, Harvard Divinity School, and Harvard Universlty, where she earned a Ph.D. She joined the Seminary faculty in 1970. She is the author of a book and a number of articles and reviews in Old Testament scholarship.

Richard K. Fenn has been appointed as the Maxwell M. Upson Professor of Christianity and Society at Princeton Theological Seminary, effective July 1, 1985. He is presently professor of sociology at the University of Maine.

Dr. Fenn is a graduate of Yale Episcopal Theological School in Cambridge, Mass. Princeton Theological Seminary, and Bryn Mawr Graduate School, where he received the doctor of philosophy degree. In 1970 he became assistant professor of sociology at Trinity College in Hartford, Conn., and in 1973 joined the faculty at the University of Maine. Prior to his academic career he served as curate for an Episcopal church in Akron, Ohio, as diocesan assistant in the Diocese of Nagpur in India, and as vicar in the Diocese of Pennsylvania of the Episcopal Church.

He is the author of "Liturgies and Trials" and "Toward a Theory of Secularizatioo" os well as numerous articles for sociological and theological journals on religion and society and liturgy. Dr. Fenn will follow Gibson Winter, who retired this spring, in the Upson Chair.

STOUT FAMILY REUNION

In Hopewell. The 56th annual Stout Family Reunion will he held Saturday, August 11, at 10 a.m. at Calvary Baptist Church, Hopewell.

Robert F. Van Benthuysen, director of the Murry and Leonie Guggenheim Memorial Library at Monmouth College, will be the afternoon speaker. Mr. Van Benthuysen serves on the board of the Monmouth County Historical Association and the board of the West Long Branch Public Library. He wrote The Eorly History of Long Bronch and for many years has compiled the annual directnry of periodicals, a guide to New Jersey state documents.

Genealogical charts and reference books will be available for tracing the Stout lineage, along with other historical materials. Richard and Penelope Stout were pioneer settlers in the Middletown area in the early 1600s, who raised a family nf 10 children. Stouts from almost every state in the country are expected to return and celebrate the occasion.

A family-style lunch will be catered by Mrs. Lynch and volunteers from the Calvary Baptist Church. Family members are asked to mail luncheon reservation forms to David Stout, treasurer, no later than July 27.

Newly-attending members may call Dorothy Stout, 737-1065, or Patricia Stout, 829-3446, or John Stout, (201) 454-6072, for further information.

ACTIVITIES LISTED

By Recreation Dept. The Princeton Recreation Department has announced plans for a pool party, an aerobics class, and a walking program.

The Community Park Pool "Splash Party" is scheduled for July 28 from 12:30 p.m. to 5. There will be special games and contests in the main pool, wading pool, and diving well.

The evening aerobic expression exercise class will begin a new session on Tuesday, July 24 in the John Witherspoon School Gymnasium. It will run through September 27. Classes are held on Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 6 to 7.

Persons interested in joining a walking club, which will meet on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings, are urged to call the Princeton Recreation Department before July 30. The department notes that walking, an exercise for people of all ages, is one of the simplest and best ways to keep fit.

For additional information, call the Recreation Department at 921-9480.

Turnabout is Fair Play

This summer, while most students are off doing almost anything except schoolwork, approximately half the Princeton Regional School teaching staff has volunteered to attend classes at the high school and middle school.

Now in its second year, the summer program for teachers offers ten one-week courses, half of which relate to the use of computers. Among these are "The Computer as a Research Tool," "Logo" and "Word Processing." "Exploring Science" provides instruction in how to use the computer to file, process and report scientific data.

Other courses, open to all teachers in grades K-12, include "Inspiring Children's Writing Voices," "Drawing on the Right Side of the Brain," and "Writing for Publication."

The teachers, whose areas of specialization include math, physical education, science, and special education, are paid $16.50 per hour for attending classes. Although many of the courses appear to revolve around computers and writing, Assistant Superintendent Jamieson McKenzie says that most are relevant to all disciplines.

"We focus, for example, on how to support students' risk taking, as well as how to establish a supportive group climate. This pertains to any area of school."

Mr. McKenzie added that all courses relate to goals established in the Princeton Regional Schools Long-Range Plan.

Appalled by Vandalism.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

I am writing this letter as the president of the Princeton Battlefield Area Preservation Society for a number of years, and as a resident of Princeton for 61 years.

I am appalled by the recent incident on the Battlefield in which vandals, early in the morning of July 13, used containers of gasoline in an attempt to burn the Mercer Oak. Alert neighbors saw the large conflagration, and a motorist attempted to put it out. The Township Police and our Fire Department responded to the emergency and the fire was extinguished. Fortunately the damage was not great because of prompt action, but one has to wonder what kind of sick minds were at work here.

The Battlefield has already suffered from shocking vandalism: the theft of a section of the ceramic tile map of the Battle, the theft of several flags from the Battlefield flag pole, and the destruction of part of the General Mercer bench which was given by the Contemporary Garden Club. We resent the costs of replacing these losses, but, even more, I am upset by these indications of a lack of feeling for or sensitivity to our area's history.

What has Princeton Battlefield Park done to anyone except provide a lovely place for recreation, relaxation and education? Has all our work for preservation been wasted?

I am deeply concerned about our community.

Beyond Safe Rides.
To The Editor of Town Topics:

The time has come to re-evaluate thoughtfully a recently instituted service to young people of Princeton — Safe Rides.

This program, carried out by young volunteers, was designed to help stop young people from driving while intoxicated and to enable high school students the option of not riding with a person who has consumed alcohol. All one has to do is call a number, give name, address and phone number to receive a friendly ride home.

As a graduate of Princeton High and a former student leader of the PHS peer counseling program, I have talked with kids who use safe rides, and I wish to raise several moral concerns about this program.

When a young person experiments with alcohol, is there not enough love, trust and understanding within the family for someone to get out of bed in the early morning hours to pick up their son or daughter themselves?

When young kids have a safe ride home provided by community volunteers, might they find it easier to experiment with or become users of alcohol, drugs and sex, without the interaction that occurs when their own parents pick them up?

When young people leave the protected "Safe Ride Society" of Princeton, are they a "gonner" because many other communities do not provide such care?

As far as it goes, Safe Rides is fine. But Princeton citizens and parents need to get smart enough to figure out why Princeton needs Safe Rides and then to discuss it with their children to get solutions to the root problem and not just accept a bandaid.

Is Your Sump Pump Connected to the Sanitary Sewer System?

The Princeton Sewer System is overloaded, and a great deal of water leaks into it during wet weather.

This condition is due to the age and deteriorated condition of the sewer pipes, coupled with the extra load placed on the system during rain storms by improperly connected sump pumps. The Borough and Township have recently spent a substantial amount of money in an attempt to eliminate infiltration/inflow in the public sewer system, yet raw sewerage continues to overflow into streets and yards. Engineers say that up to two-thirds of the extraneous flow comes from private laterals — the pipes connecting homes to the trunk line under the street. Much of this extra water originates from sump pumps and can be eliminated by disconnecting them from the system.

In an effort to eliminate improper sump pump connections, Township Committee, has enacted an ordinance which temporarily suspends prosecution for improperly connected sump pumps until December 31, 1984, and provides up to $200 credit for disconnecting them from the sanitary sewer system. Residents must be disconnected and file for credit by that date to qualify. After December 31, any property owner with an improper connection may be prosecuted and fined up to $500.

$200 REWARD*

The Township of Princeton is offering a $200 Reward for the disconnection of sump pumps from the sanitary sewer system.

To receive the $200 Reward, follow these three steps:

1. Determine if you qualify.

In order to qualify you must have a sump pump at your property which is presently connected to the sanitary sewer system.

If your foundation wall leaks, or if you have water in your basement, you probably have a sump pump. The sump pump will be located at the low spot in the basement where the water collects.

To determine if it is connected to the sewer, follow the discharge pipe (1½"-2") diameter to see where it ends. If it goes through the foundation wall, you are probably not connected to the sewer. If the sump pump discharge pipe connects to a 4-inch plug in the basement floor es indicated in the illustration, or a 4-inch cast iron or PVC pipe, you probabaly are connected to the sanitary sewer. If you are not sure, ask a knowledgeable friend, neighbor or plumber to check for you. The Township Engineering Department will also be available for inspection as time permits.

2. Disconnect the Pump.

This may be done by a registered plumber, or by yourself, if you are handy. The new piping must be installed in accordance with Township requirements, and the discharge location must be a distance of at least 10 feet from the foundation wall. Information on Township requirements is available by calling the Engineering Department at 921-7077.

3. Make Application for $200 Reward.

Submit the original bill for the sump pump corrective work with a statement showing the capacity of the pump and a sketch of the work performed to the Township Engineer. Once approved, you will receive a credit to your annual sewer bill for the actual cost of the work performed, or $200, whichever is the lesser amount.

*The $200 Reward is limited to the first 50 Township residents who disconnect their sump pumps and file for credit. After the first 50, you are still eligible for a credit to your sewer bill as above ($200 or the actual cost of disconnecting, whichever is less), but you must pay back the credit. The repayment may be in equal installments over a three-year period following completion of the work saying that Mr. Mallach and Mr. Nolon were going to be "indispensable" in the effort to arrive at the "fair share" number and that the new planner, Duggan Kimball, could not be expected to assume planning decisions and housing decisions so soon after arrival.

With the two abstentions and Mr. Cherry's "no" vote, the resolution to pay the consultants seemed to be defeated. But Mr. Cherry offered to change his vote, thus ensuring passage, if Committee would agree to hearing some "other sources of expertise." Specifically, he asked Committee to hear Jerome Rose, "for starters," in closed session.

Prof. Rose is a professor of urban planning at Rutgers University, a Township resident, and a published authority on the Mount Laurel decisions. He also served on the Planning Board for seven years leading up to the adoption of the Master Plan and another year subsequently.

An earlier meeting with Prof. Rose, urged by Hans Sander and Margen Penick of the Planning Board, had been cancelled by the Mayor. He said he didn't think only a few selected members of the Planning Board should be included, as Mr. Sander proposed.

Following some sarcastic comment from Committeeman Richard Schoch, who questioned the need for additional information and a cross-examination by Mrs. Cantrill of Attorney Schmierer as to the legality of holding a closed session with Prof. Rose, Committee voted 4-1 to hear Prof. Rose's views on Mount Laurel litigation strategies. Mr. Schoch cast the negative vote.

The resolution to pay the housing consultants was then put to a second vote, and with Mr. Cherry's "yes" passed, over the continuing abstentions from the two women members of Committee.

Extra Meeting. Committee has scheduled, therefore, an extra meeting Monday night, July 23, at 8 p.m. in the Valley Road Building or in the Township courtroom over the Police Station if it is very hot. The first part of the meeting will be devoted to a work session on affordable housing in which public comment will not be permitted. Then Committee will go into a closed session with Prof. Rose.

Early in the discussion on the professional services resolution, Mayor Pike was asked if the Borough had agreed to pay part of the $23,500 tab for the housing consultants. "The Borough is still not willing to pay their share of what I consider justifiable expenses," Mayor Pike replied with controlled annoyance. The rationale seems to stem from the zoning suits, he said, in which the municipality that is being sued is to pay the entire bill.

Also early in the discussion it was learned that Mr. Mallach and Mr. Nolon are the subject of a suit by a planner's organization that charges they are performimg planning functions professionally without being professionally licensed. Mr. Mallach called the challenge "unfounded and unreasonable."

More Trouble on Bouvant. Much of the rest of the meeting Monday night was taken up with trying to adjudicate between Nassau Capital, developers of the Bouvant Drive area, and residents of the area. Nassau Capital sought a reduction of their performance bond and a time extension on the completion of certain work. Residents argued against granting these requests, saying that the developer had "shunned responsibility" and had a chronic history of not completing drainage, landscaping and roadwork as promised.

A case in point, they said, was a detention basin which was not built according to the specifications in the approval granted by the Planning Board. That, coupled with an improperly graded drainage swale turned four properties, amounting to 10 acres, into a floodplain, they said.

A compromise was reached, whereby some of the performance bond was reduced, and the developer was given until Committee's August 6 meeting to reach an agreement with the Township Engineer on making corrections and completing work that needed to be done.

In other business, Committee introduced an ordinance that will permit outdoor cafe-style tables and chairs at the Princeton Shopping Center, contingent on Planning Board approval. The public hearing will be August 6.

Committee also learned that Princeton has now slipped to 68th place in the line-up for $100 million in state funds for sewer rehabilitation. At one time Princeton was 20th. This means, Mayor Pike said dismally, that Princeton doesn't "stand a chance" of outside funds and must depend on local monies to repair its aged sewer lines.

WIT AND WHIMSY

At Palmer Square. Wit and Whimsy, a new shop that will open in early September at 45 Palmer Square, will feature a variety of gifts for women, men, and children and a line of items for the home. It will replace Milady.

The shop is owned and operated by Susie Kuser, a native of Trenton, and a former Princeton resident. Educated in retailing and design at Marymount College in Virginia, the Fashion Institute of Technology and the New York School of Design in Manhattan, Ms. Kuser worked in retailing for 12 years prior to opening her own shop last year. Her retailing experience includes sales, buying, merchandising, design and display. Throughout her career, Ms. Kuser has worked in St. Thomas, Virgin Islands; New York, Spring Lake, and Princeton.

"Coming to Princeton has always been part of my retailing plan," says Ms. Kuser. "Princeton's people are my customers. I know Princeton and I feel comfortable there." Wit and Whimsy has been operating out of Bordentown for the past year, drawing most of its customers from the Princeton area.

The merchandise in the store is selected by Ms. Kuser at annual gift shows in San Francisco, New York and Atlanta. Most of the items are hand-made.

There will be a variety of gifts ranging in price from $2 to $150. The shop will offer a selection of children's gifts, including inexpensive, colorful alphabet buttons that easily attach to clothing. A favorite gift for the newborn is a pair of baby shoes hand painted and packaged in a Chinese food carton. There will also be a line of children's furniture, including wicker chairs, stools, and a bench chair imprinted with a teddy bear.

Wit and Whimsy will also carry unusual gift items for men and women, including one-of-a-kind brass clothes hangers and an "ultimate prep" tie — a navy blue silk featuring green alligators wearing topsiders and a pink Izod shirt.

All gifts will be packaged in a glossy white bag overflowing with multi-colored pastel tissue paper.

The shop's interior walls will be painted white to allow for maximum flexibility for furnishings and display area design. Most of the furnishings will be antiques from Ms. Kuser's country home.

The merchandise at Wit and Whimsy will change frequently. "Even when an item is a good seller, said Ms. Kuser, "I often do not reorder it. Instead I will find a different item that performs the same function."

STRONG 2ND QUARTER

For NJ National. New Jersey National Corporation has posted a 46 percent increase in income before extraordinary item for the second quarter of 1984 to $3.244 million from the $2.223 million reported for the same period last year.

On a per share basis, this represents an increase to $.72 from $.50 in 1983. During the second quarter, Net Income rose from $2.824 million to $3.820 million for an increase of 35 percent.

Earnings for the first six months of 1984 increased significantly in comparison to the same period in 1983. Income before extraordinary item rose 27 percent to $6.302 million or $1.41 per share from $4.966 million or $1.12 per share. Net income climbed 36 percent to $7.591 million or $1.70 per share.

The above per share results reflect the three-for-two split of New Jersey National's common stock issued May 21, 1984 to shareholders of record April 30, 1984.

CONSTRUCTION BEGUN

On Business Center. The Linpro Company has started construction on the first of 15 buildings that will comprise Enterprise Business Center, a commercial complex near Princeton.

Projected as a $100 million investment, the 83-acre center will be a principal focal point of Princeton Meadows. Completion is set for next spring.

According to Ronald C. Willis, Linpro's director of commercial leasing, the first building has been designated 101 Morgan Lane, a 63,000 square foot, three-story office structure. It is being built at the intersection of Plainsboro Road and the newly completed Scudder's Mill Road bypass. The site is two miles east of US Route 1.

Interior features include a two-story atrium lobby containing a monumental stairway of structural glass, accented in brass. The lobby will be finished in polished marble with carpet inlays and wood accents.

Additional features include 21,000 square foot floors, an energy-efficient HVAC system, full sprinklering, security and life support systems, and parking for 262 cars. Extensive landscaping is planned for the five-acre building site.

EARNINGS SET RECORD

At United Jersey Banks. United Jersey Banks has passed the billion dollar mark in commercial loans, leading the way to record second quarter earnings. An increase of 26 percent over the same quarter last year has been announced by United Jersey's chairman and president T. Joseph Semrod.

Net income was $7.2 million for the quarter ended June 30, a 26 percent increase over the $5.7 million reported a year ago. United Jersey's per share income rose 24 percent to $1.05 per share, compared to 85 cents per share in the second quarter of last year.

Net income for the first six months of 1984 reached $14.4 million, a 31 percent increase over the $11.0 million earned in the first six months of 1983. This amounts to $2.12 per common share, compared to the $1.77 per common share earned in the first six months of last year.

"As part of the company's long range strategic plan," Mr. Semrod noted, "commercial loans have increased significantly over the past three years." At June 30, 1981, commercial loans stood at $495 million, less than half what they are today. Commercial loans at June 30, 1984 reached $1.0 billion, up 34 percent over the prior year.

"It's very important to realize, however, that the commercial loans we have added to reach this total have been high quality credits," he said. "Our underperforming loans are less than one percent of total assets, a record which is among the best in our peer group of regional banks and which surpasses that of the money center banks."

And the IIc comes with everything you need to start computing. Including an RF modulator that turns your TV into a monitor, a power pack and a free 4-disk tutorial.

Of course, there are still lots of reasons to take home an Apple IIe. Like its ability to grow with more peripherals and accessories than any other computer in the world.

Our professional sales staff will help you make the right choice.

They'll also help you apply for an Apple Credit Card. If you qualify, you can take either Apple II home for as little as 10% down.

Which can prevent a drastic reduction in something else. Your cash flow.

GIANT COMPLEX: This is a partial view of the construction taking place behind earthen berms on Scudders Mill Road that will be Phase I of the 1.8 million square-foot Merrill Lynch Corporate Campus. Designed as a village complex, the rambling two and three-story structures will house relocated administrative functions from New York City as well as serve as a training and management assessment center. Facilities will include a 326-room hotel as well as significant recreational facilities for employees. (Michaela McMillan photo)

Merrill Lynch

square foot cost in the new Princeton campus to be one half that of New York, he said.

Mr. White described the sprawling first phase as "a working village, unique in concept and superior in design and construction." Conscious of what he called the "aesthetic standards of Princeton," Merrill Lynch retained "world class architects" to handle the design of the complex. He listed The Kling Partnership of Philadelphia, Daroff Design Inc., also of Philadelphia, for the interiors, and Roger Wells, landscape architect of Haddonfield.

Ground was broken in June, 1983, and the complex has been under construction since last summer by Huber, Hunt & Nichols of Indianapolis. The corporate campus involves six segments in two and three-story buildings. There is the 500,000 square-foot administrative office center in which selected corporate activities will be housed; the training center for entry level account executives; the Merrill Lynch Institute and conference center, which will be the locus for management development and customer education; an executive assessment center; a 326-room deluxe hotel in which the training cycle groups will be housed; and recreational facilities.

These include tennis and basketball courts, a swimming pool and a "pub" in which to talk shop. The initial 1450 employees in the administrative office center are in addition to the 700 individuals that could be using the training center at any one time, Mr. White said.

Public May Visit. The whole complex will be connected by an interior pedestrian walkway, forming a gallery on which art exhibits may be hung. An outdoor amphitheatre for cultural events will be located by a large pond right outside the dining area. Mr. White told Chamber members that Merrill was "eager to be a good citizen," and that there would be "public cultural events and lots of opportunities for you to visit."

Mr. White showed Chamber members a 10-minute film called "Princeton" which has been used to entice employees to relocate. It presents a bucolic view, in which the sky is always an azure blue and shots of pastured cows, sheep and horses are alternated with gothic facades. Barber Arthur DeCore's remark that "Dr. Einstein was a nice guy, but he never got a haircut," drew a big laugh from the audience.

Asked if Merrill plans to move its headquarters to Princeton (its chief executive, William Schreyer, is a Princeton resident), Mr. White said he was not in a position to answer that question but added, "In my opinion, no." At another point he said, "We will still keep a very large presence in Manhattan."

Phase II will involve an additional 800,000 square feet of office space into which as yet-to-be-determined Merrill corporate activities will be moved. This could mean more than 5,000 employees in the whole complex, Mr. White said. There are presently 19,000 Merrill employees in New York City alone, not including branch office personnel.

The firm is also in the process of constructing a facility in Somerset, N.J., in which certain operations, particularly those relating to cash management accounts, will be housed. William Clark, director of communications for Merrill Lynch in New York City, said a smaller workforce than in Princeton, in the neighborhood of 500 employees, would be relocated there.

Asked to comment on persistent rumors that there has been a "retrenchment" in scale and numbers of employees on the part of Merrill Lynch in the Princeton Corporate Campus, Mr. Clark said this was not true. He said he thought that there may be some confusion on the part of the public with published reports in the New York Times a few weeks ago announcing cut-backs at Merrill Lynch & Co. in terms of certain cost-control measures.

From a worldwide workforce of 44,000 there is to be a 2½ percent reduction to 41,500 by the end of the year. To accomplish this, Merrill is identifying certain job positions that are "redundant," he said, and allowing retirement and attrition to take care of the rest.

"What was planned in Princeton, certainly in Phase I, will remain so," Mr. Clark noted. "That's a commitment. Princeton remains a goal for us in 1985."

A LA RECHERCHE DU TEMPS PERDU

Of an era of grace and elegance, a remembrance of a splendid wedding bouquet tossed a staircase worthy of a French chateau by a radiant bride in an heirloom wedding gown and caught by a descendant of a signatory of the American Declaration of Independence. That aura still lingers on, a lavender sachet scent trailing by, a living souvenir to all that is best. Waiting for you in Princeton.

LET'S TALK ABOUT

LOVING YOUR HOUSEPLANTS!!!

with Sam DeTuro
Woodwinds Associates

Because much of the country has only delightfully warm weather during a limited portion of the year it's a nice treat to enjoy every available moment on our porch or patio. What could make our outdoor environment even more enjoyable is the addition of houseplants!!

Different houseplants like different settings. Hanging baskets need some protection from wind, so they are perfect for beautifying porches and shaded patios. Plants like begonias and African violets can't take direct, hot summer sun, but will brighten shady areas where many other plants can't survive.

As a rule of thumb, most houseplants do best in something less than full bright sun. It's nice to know there are plants to brighten shaded areas, which otherwise are a real problem to the home gardener.

Keep in mind that plants, like people can be sunburnt if exposed to too much hot sun for too long a period. Start by giving houseplants a few hours of morning sun outdoors and increase exposure gradually over a period of a couple weeks. Any plants that you can set in the ground, still in their pots, will save time and effort – the ground around them will adjust their moisture and you won't have to call neighbors in to water if you go away for a week or two.

Set out potted plants like azaleas, cyclamens and tuberous begonias in a shady section of the garden. Large foliage plants like Norfolk Island pine, schefflera, weeping fig and jade plants can give a shady look to your patio or porch. Just give them enough water, as they dry out faster outdoors. When temperatures start dropping in late summer or fall, start bringing the plants back in. Those that have been in full sun, should make the switch gradually, just as when putting them out in spring or early summer. Check them all carefully for bugs or diseases and treat them before bringing them in. Some people spray houseplants about two weeks before returning them indoors just to be sure they don't bring pests with them.

While you're redecorating with houseplants, don't forget your trees and shrubbery. They need feeding, watering and pruning. Do give WOODWINDS (924-3500) a call for all your outdoor needs.

Duggan Kimball Begins a Full Time Position As Professional Adviser to the Planning Board

Take heart, Princeton! Duggan Kimball, the professional planner who has just started his job with the Princeton Regional Planning Board, understands that there is something "special" about this town, and he knew it long before he took the post.

His wife Susan was born in Princeton and grew up here through her teens; her mother was Gloria Michael, first head of the Princeton Housing Authority. The family subsequently moved to Amherst, Mass., where her father was chairman of the School of Management at the University of Massachusetts.

Meeting Susan at U-Mass., where he was getting his master's degree in regional planning and she was an undergraduate, and subsequently marrying into the family, Mr. Kimball came to see it as a family joke: There is Princeton, a "special place" that they talked about constantly, and then there is every other place.

Land use planning and development is equally strong in his background. Gloria Michael was the director of a redevelopmeot authority in Pittsburgh at the time of her death last November. Susan herself is a planner, currently working as an underwriter with the New Jersey Housing Finance Agency, and so is her brother.

Duggan Kimball

Concern is to protect the character of Princeton

Mr. Kimball was drawn to the planning field because of a good friend in the Peace Corps (he spent two years in Micronesia after receiving his B.A. in anthropology from Boston University) who had studied planning at U-Mass. That friend later became the planning director for Hunterdon County and a neighbor of the Kimballs in Stockton.

First Priority. A handsome, soft-spoken man of 36, with a serious demeanor, Mr. Duggan says his first priority is to bring himself up to date on what's been happening in Princeton in regard to the Mt. Laurel law suits and to familiarize himself with the Master Plan and the zoning code.

"My main concern has to be to protect the character of Princeton," he says. "I'm concerned about what the effect of Mt. Laurel will be on the town, and I hope something can be done to address it without drastically altering the character of the community."

Having said, wittingly or unwittingly, exactly what Princeton yearns to hear, he warms to the subject of the unfairness of Mount Laurel in Princeton's case. "There are many communities that have abused the rights given to them, the zoning powers given to them under state land use laws, purposely to exclude low and moderate income residents. Communities have done this almost as a policy matter. That is what the Mt. Laurel decision is all about.

"But it is unfortunate," Mr. Kimball continues, "that it will affect a community like Princeton that has a good track record (in providing low and moderate income housing). Which is not to say that Princeton should rest on its laureis. It shouldn't."

Destructive to Planning. Mr. Kimball continues, "But the shot-gun approach of Mount Laurel II — which even the justices admit — is destructive to good planning. There's got to be some other way. I can't tell you what that way should be, because I don't know yet.

"I'm concerned that Mount Laurel II puts the burden of what is at least a regional, even a national problem, on the back of local municipalities in a way that I as a land planner don't find acceptable." He pauses and reflects for a moment. "What I would like to do — " another pause and a different tack: "It is easy to be negative about things. To provide constructive answers is more difficult."

The interview shifts to Mr. Kimball's role as principal advisor and paid professional to the Planning Board. One week at his new job, he is very aware, from knowing smiles, innuendos and outright comments, of previous uneasy relations between professionals and a Planning Board that takes its role in preserving Princeton seriously to the point of zealousness.

He is Princeton's second full-time planner, after Carleton Ryffel who resigned in 1979 after a year and a half. The Planning Board has since used professional planning consultants, particularly in the wake of law suits stemming from the down-zoning of residential areas in the northwest ridge area recommended by the Master Plan. The move for a full-time professional gained impetus at budget hearings last year, when $37,000 was set aside in the 1984 budget.

Unfazed. Mr. Kimball says he doesn't feel threatened by strong minded leaders. "Hopefully I will gain the confidence of Planning Board members, and as I do I will be more effective. I work for them. My role is as an adviser. If they make mistakes it will be on their shoulders."

The last board he worked for in Raritan Township didn't always take his advice, and he did not hesitate to tell them so when certain decisions "came back to haunt them."

He sees affordable housing as "the paramount issue." Another is minimizing the negative effects of development that is occuring, which he also describes as "controlling growth — which is what planning is all about." He recognizes that infrastructure is an issue that is before the Planning Board right now, although he admits to only a superficial understanding so far of what that might involve.

He also hopes to take certain burdens off Planning Board members and make things go more smoothly. At last week's meeting, there was not a quorum present, so that none of the applications on a lengthy agenda were heard. All have been postponed until this coming Thursday at 7:30 in the Valley Road building, including the Medical Center's application for an addition to Princeton House. Perhaps Mr. Kimball's presence will spark better attendance by Planning Board members and smooth the flow of development ap-

News of The THEATRES

FINAL WEEKEND

For 'Showboat.' The Jerome Kern musical Showboat will play Wednesday through Saturday at 8:30 at the Open Air Theatre in Washington Crossing Park.

Some of the favorite tunes in this favorite musical are "Old Man River," "Why Do I Love You?" and "Can't Help Loving That Man." Included in the large cast of professional, semi-professional and community theatre performers are the comedy team of Debby Rittler, who plays Ellie, and Michael Jensen, who is cast as Frank.

Debbie Rittler is a former gymnastics champion, actress, singer and dancer who has had experience in musicals in area dinner theatre, civic opera and the Bucks County Playhouse. She is also choreographer for the show.

Michael Jensen, dancer, singer and actor, plays her boyfriend Frank. He has performed roles in many musicals in Pennsylvania dinner theatres and has danced with the Philadelphia Opera Company and Penn City Co.

The audience is invited to bring cushions and blankets and come early with a picnic supper. There are tables near by. Tickets are $1.50 for children and $4 for adults on Wednesday and Thursday, $5 on Friday and Saturday. They may be purchased at the box office on the evening of the performance.

MORE 'CULT' FILMS

At Arts Center. Summer entertainment continues with the showing of The Little Shop of Horrors sponsored by the Princeton Cult Film Festival. The film will be shown Friday, July 27, at 9 at 102 Witherspoon Street. Admission is $3.

The Little Shop of Horrors is a classic, low-budget quickie film of the love story between a boy, a girl and a man-eating plant. It was directed by Roger Corman, said to be a giant of the genre.

There will be a door prize drawing, and refreshments will be available.

FROM JAPAN, AUSTRALIA

Two Films at Kresge. Samurai warriors from feudal Japan and post-nuclear Australia are the focus of the double bill this week at Summer Cinema in Kresge Auditorium. The two films are The Rood Warrior and Kurosawa's Seven Samurai.

The Road Warrior is Australian director George Miller's view of a time after a nuclear disaster when the only things of value left in the world are moving vehicles and the fuel they need to keep moving. The few remaining survivors have assembled an oil refinery in a desert fortress, where they are besieged by a band of subhuman bikers and car-freaks.

Into this battle of cattlemen vs. homesteaders rides Mel Gibson, the star of Gallipoli and The Year of Living Dangerously, as a 21st century knight in black leather, who makes a pact with the refiners to help them reach freedom. The Road Warrior is a film fantasy mixed with demolition derby. Summer Cinema warns patrons that this is a violent film and definitely not for the squeamish.

The co-feature is Akira Kurosawa's great epic, Seven Samurai, arguably the greatest of all Japanese action films and a frequent candidate on the "Ten Best Films of all Time" lists. It is the tale of seven knights hired to defend a Japanese village against 40 mounted bandits, their pay a few handfuls of rice and the sheer satisfaction of defeating the enemy.

Tickets for the double feature are $3.50 and may be purchased at the door of Kresge Auditorium, located in the Frick Chemical Building, Washington Road. For additional information about the Summer Cinema program presented by McCarter Theatre, call 452-4242 noon to 6 Monday through Friday.

COMEDY READIED

By Franklin Villagers. A maid's uniform, a mink coat, a negligee and an evening coat all figure prominently in the unfolding of the frantic and funny farce, Happy Birthday, that opens at the Franklin Villagers Barn on Friday night.

The two-act comedy was written by Marc Canoletti, adapted by Beverly Cross, and first presented by John Gale at London's Apollo Theatre in 1979, where it enjoyed a long, successful run. Mistaken identities, plots and counterplots, complications and bedrooms switches lead to increasing confusion and hilarity, according to Lou J. Stalsworth, director.

Cliff Platt stars as Bernard, the husband who is having his fling. Judi Roskey, is Jacqueline, his wife, J.C. Morris is Robert, Bernard's longtime friend, and Bev Gorelick is Brigit 1, while Kathryn Packer is Brigit 2.

Performances in the air-conditioned Barn are Fridays and Saturdays at 8:30, Sundays at 7:30, through August 20. There will be a 3 p.m. matinee Sunday, July 29. Tickets are $6.50 Fridays and Sundays, $7.50 Saturdays.

The Franklin Villagers Barn theatre is located on DeMott Lane, Somerset, behind the Franklin Township Municipal Building. For information or tickets, call (201) 873-2710.

MUSICAL IN REHEARSAL

By Community Players. The Princeton Community Players are putting the finishing touches on their production of "Once Upon a Mattress," which will be seen at the Washington Crossing Open Air Theatre on July 26, 27, 28 and August 1, 2, 3 and 4.

This musical (with music by Mary Rodgers, lyrics by Marshall Barer, and book by Jay Thompson, Dean Fuller and Marshall Barer) is a lighthearted retelling of the story of the Princess and the Pea. Princess Winnifred the Woebegone wins the ad-

Here's a classic Olympic story that's hard to believe — but it happened ... A man named Felix Carvajal wanted to run the marathon in the 1904 Olympics in St. Louis ... Lacking transportation to the Games, he walked and ran 700 miles — all the way from New Orleans to St. Louis, arriving there just as the marathon was starting ... Despite almost complete exhaustion, he ran the race, and just missed a bronze medal, finishing fourth in a field of 32!

PRINCETON SPLITS

In Legion Baseball. Princeton's entry in the Mercer County American Legion league extended a winning streak to five games last week, but then dropped two straight games to fall one-game under the .500 mark and into sixth place in the league standings.

Princeton Post 76 zapped Trenton, 5-3, despite leaving 12 runners on base. Down 3-1 in the fourth inning Princeton rebounded with a run-scoring single by Gavin Hulsman (one of the league's leading hitters with a .433 average). Mickey Carnevale scored the go-ahead run in the fifth by singling and then advancing on a walk to Mike Petrone, a wild pitch, and an infield grounder. Bill Foltani added an insurance run by stealing second and third and then coming home on an errant throw.

Bill Feus pitched a three-hitter for Post 76 the following night to give Princeton its fifth straight win and raise its record to 8-7, defeating Lawrence, 7-1. Dave Arendas and Craig Ender each stroked triples and singles in support of Feus. Arendas, Mike Walker, and Darren Villani all had two RBIs.

The winning streak was snapped in a tough, 1-0 defeat at the hands of Ewing. Post 76's Jamie Taylor held the opposition scoreless with just two hits through the first seven innings, but then yielded the only run of the game in the bottom of the eighth. The winning run came on a single, passed ball, infield out, and then the fourth hit of the game for Ewing.

Princeton outhit Ewing, 5-4.

Post 76 matched its opponent in hits on Saturday, 11-11, but still fell under .500 with a 10-4 loss to Bordentown.

Holsman and Mike Walker had three hits each for Princeton. Bordentown, just a game out of first place in the the league standings, counted three doubles and a triple among its hits, and scored six runs in the third inning to take command of the game.

Post 76 was scheduled to play Hamilton this Tuesday, followed by games at Broad Street Park on Wednesday, at Mitchell Davis on Friday, and against Hightstown at Mercer County Park on Saturday.

CORN STILL PERFECT

In Mercer Softball. If you see some of the women on the Princeton-based Sweet Jersey Corn softball team looking morose this week, do not assume that they have just suffered their first loss of the season or their first league loss in 44 games. They might have just ended their streak of consecutive scoreless innings — a relatively minor blemish on the record.

Sweet Jersey raised its record to 18-0 in the Mercer County Women's "A" League last week by shutting out both opponents: S & W Liquors, 5-0, and T & A Olden Paint, 7-0.

This week the Corn was scheduled to put its winning streak and its scoreless inning streak on the line against Chambersburg Eyeglass on Tuesday, and against Grove Plumbing, Thursday at 7:30 at Mercer County Park.

Clare Baxter pitched the first shutout last week, aided by offensive support from Doreen Ragazzo, Dee Vertucci, and Andrea Perrine (all 2-for-3), and Debbie Smyth (2-for-4).

Louann Slocum kept the shutout streak intact against Olden Paint. The hitting standouts in that game were Smyth, Grace Durland, Sandi Hibbs, and Beth Mozyka, all 3-for-4.

1st NATIONAL REPEATS

In West Windsor LL. First National Bank defeated the West Windsor Lions in two games to win the West Windsor Little League playoffs for the third time in the past four years. First National had not defeated the Lions in the regular season.

Jeff Skalinski struck out 10 Lions in the 9-6 win in the opening game, and was supported by the hitting of Jim Lenox, who tripled and singled twice in four at-bats.

First National came from behind to win the second game, 11-9. Ten-year-old Peter Prodanov pitched a complete game and went 3-for-4 with a triple for the winners. First National's Jason Oberheim (4-for-4), John Krisa (2-for-2), and Lexon (3-for-4) provided additional offense.

For the Lions, Jason Rizzo drilled three hits in the opening game, and Dave Cirullo, Bobby Kleber, and Scott Thomas had two hits apiece in the second game.

WEST WINDSOR 2ND

In PASDA Swimming. The Princeton Area Swimming and Diving Association's "off-age" swimming championships were held last week with close to 1,000 young swimmers from 22 teams competing at the Brooktree Country Club in East Windsor.

After five days of competition the home team prevailed by the smallest of margins, defeating West Windsor Swim Club, 306-303.

The Nassau Swim Club, competing without a substantial number of swimmers — including three with the Princeton High School choir in Vienna, Austria — finished in a tie for fifth place with Cranbury, scoring 176 points.

Other area teams scoring in the meet were Ben Franklin of Lawrenceville, seventh place; Community Park Swim Club, 10th place; Penn Brook of Pennington, 11th; Hopewell Valley Golf Club, 12th; Stony Brook of Hopewell, 14th; Bedens Brook Club, 15th; Hopewell Valley Tennis Club, 16th; Lawrenceville Swim Club, 18th; and the Princeton-based Lenape Swim Club, 22nd.

The "off-age" competition staggers the normal age division by one year, so that swimmers normally competing as the youngest in their class become the oldest. PASDA will hold another championship, in which swimmers compete in their regular divisions, during the first week in August.

Among the area competitors named most valuable swimmers in the meet were Jane Skillman from Nassau Swim Club, competing in the 11 and under girls' individual medley and butterfly; Sharon Richardson from Ben Franklin, 15 and under girls' individual medley and butterfly (the latter a meet record); and Rob Bergman of Bedens Brook, a freestyler who tied in the 17 and under boys' division. MIKE'S VS. CONTE'S...

...and Nautilus, Too. There may be little room at the top, but three teams continue to ignore that truth in the Princeton Recreation Men's Softball League.

Mike's (14-2), Conte's (13-2), and Princeton Nautilus (14-2) all won games last week as the league headed toward its playoff schedule. Some elbow room seemed likely to be created this week, as Mike's and Conte's were scheduled for a showdown on Tuesday.

Last week the Princeton Medical Center (2-13) provided little resistance for Mike's, which banged out 19 hits enroute to a 13-5 victory. The trio of Bob Zinsmeister, Reid Horvitz, and Doug Drake enjoyed a collective evening of 9-for-9 hitting. Dan Kirton stroked a home run and two singles in four at-bats for the winners.

Conte's had more of a battle against the likely fourth place finisher in the league standings, the Princeton Italian-American Sportsmen's Club (10-5). Conte's scored three runs in the first two innings and then was held scoreless but managed to hold on for a 3-1 victory. Winning pitcher Bill McQuade also went 3-for-3 at the plate, as did John Pesce.

PIASC scored its only run on a single by John Pirone and an infield ground out by Mario Tamasi. The losers managed only one hit in the final three innings.

Nautilus Struggles. C Square C (7-9) stayed close to Nautilus but still lost, 3-1. Ken Bruvik and Kevin Phox singled to lead off the second inning, and both advanced on a sacrifice fly. They scored on a fielder's choice by Scott Porreca and on an error by C. Square C. Richard Jackson collected two hits in the losing cause.

Hinkson's evened its record at 8-8 by pounding Skirm's, 10-2. Rich Zane gave Hinkson's its lead in the third inning with a two-run single scoring Scott Hartshorn and Steve Pappaterra. In the sixth the winners put together consecutive singles by John DiBiasi, Buddy Kleiber, Doug Gildenberg, Pete Johnsen, and John Roberto to score two runs. Then the team's other Johnson, with an O, hit a grand slam homerun to cap a six-run rally.

Skirm's record fell to 3-13.

Hinkson's, meanwhile, found itself in a crowd for fifth place. Micawber Books remained in a tie for that position with a 15-5 defeat of Marita's. Chris McDonald rapped a double and two singles. Micawber's attack also was paced by John Banko, Bob Coleman, Bob Johnson, and winning pitcher Frank Slimak, who had two hits apiece.

Marita's record now stands at 1-14.

plications through the necessary channels.

Looking for a Challenge. Mr. Kimball says he was "surprised" when he learned that "a town like Princeton" was without a planning director. He comes to his new post after 4½ years as the planner for Raritan Township, a rapidly growing community that surrounds Flemington and bears many similarities to Princeton Township from a land use point of view. He says he was very happy in that post and enjoyed "the complete confidence" of the Raritan Township Planning Board.

When he learned of the position in Princeton, he says he could not not apply, given the family feeling about the place, and he realized that perhaps he was too comfortable professionally in Raritan. "I was looking for a challenge," he says. "I love the idea of working in Princeton. I hope I feel the same way a year from now."

350 GUESTS EXPECTED

At Landau Picnic. The Landau Picnic Committee is preparing for the arrival of 350 senior guests on Thursday, July 19 from 3:30 to 6:30. Picnic chairmen, Georgine Hall Freedman and Jocelyn Helm have invited Merwick and Princeton Nursing Home to send some of their elderly to join the festivities. Transportation for the nursing homes will be handled by Mercer County TRADE, Merwick and the Nassau Presbyterian Church van.

Princeton Recreation Department is arranging for a bus to pick up people who need transportation in the community. The bus leaves at 3:00 from Redding Circle, 3:10 from Holly House (PCV), 3:20 from Spruce Circle (SRC), and 3:30 from Mt. Pisgah Church.

Others who need special transportation and have registered at the Senior Resource Center will be contacted as to the time they will be picked up.
